Death at Navy Yard—Several Minor Accidents.

While at work in the east gun carriage shop at the navy yard yesterday, George Melchior, 1352 C street northeast, suffered injuries to his head and his left arm was broken in two places when a heavy crane broke.

Melchior narrowly escaped death. When the heavy piece of metal fell he made an effort to get out of the way, but succeeded only in getting far enough to prevent being crushed to death. He was taken to Casualty Hospital. It is thought he will recover.

Wesley Medley, three years old, frightened his parents yesterday afternoon when he fell from a window on the first floor to the pavement at his home, 433 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

The distance the child fell was only about six feet. He sustained cuts and bruises to his face and was taken to Emergency Hospital. Physicians found he had not been seriously hurt.

Samuel Hass, ten years old, 618 4th street southwest, fell on the pavement near 4th and 12 streets southwest last night and broke his arm. The boy was on roller skates when the accident happened. He was taken to Emergency Hospital.

Suffering from concussion of the brain, Harry Roney, 12 years old, was taken to Emergency Hospital from his home this morning about 2 o'clock. Roney sustained his injury by falling on his head.

Samuel Stewart, colored, resident of Cedar Heights, Md., fell from his wagon near Nichols and Belmont streets, Anacostia, yesterday afternoon and one wheel of the vehicle passed over his right leg. He was taken to Casualty Hospital.

A westbound car on the Le Droit Park line yesterday afternoon collided with a truck belonging to the Allegheny Coal Company near New York avenue and 3rd street northwest. Damage to the car amounted to about $25. The truck was only slightly damaged.

$1.00 to Harpers Ferry and Martinsburg, $1.35 Berkeley Springs and $2.00 Cumberland. Return, Sunday, October 12, Baltimore & Ohio, from Union station, 8:30 a. m., returning same day. This is a delightful service to visit the country—Advertisement.

TRIBUTE TO GOLDENBERG.

Employees Offer to Work Without Pay Evening of October 11.

In appreciation of the 6 o'clock closing all year round by M. Goldenberg, the employees of his store yesterday offered three hours' service gratis Saturday, October 11, when the store will be closed until 6 p. m. because of a holiday. It is said to be one of the highest tributes ever paid a Washington merchant.

The letter praising the services of the employees declares:

"We, the undersigned employees of M. Goldenberg, wish to express our thanks for your courtesy and kindness in our behalf in deciding to close Saturday at 6 p. m. throughout the year, and as a slight token of our appreciation, and in consideration of the fact that the store will be closed Saturday, October 11, during the usual business hours, on account of holiday, gladly offer our services on that date from 6 to 8 p. m."

CHILD WELFARE PLANS.

Association of Anacostia Holds Meeting—New Constitution Adopted.

The opening meeting of the Child Welfare Association of Anacostia for the present season was held yesterday afternoon at the Ketchikan School building with the new president, Mrs. Joseph King, in the chair. Mrs. James W. Marbury, the recently chosen secretary, resumed her duties yesterday. The association adopted the new constitution, which a special committee prepared.

Immediately following its adoption, however, an amendment was offered, which would change the number of meetings in a season and the expiration of this amendment consumed the better part of the meeting, but no action was taken.

It is probable that the same question will be definitely decided at the next meeting.

ARGUE FOR LOWER RATES.

Clarendon-Ballston Citizens' Association Hears Three Speakers.

Members of the Clarendon-Ballston Citizens' Association heard an address last night by J. Fred Birrell of Alexandria county, democratic nominee for the Virginia state legislature, in which he presented arguments for lower rates on the Washington-Virginia railway.

Mr. Birrell was introduced by William Malone, president of the association. A large delegation of members from near by associations attended the meeting. Leo P. Harlow and R. L. C. Moncreau also spoke on the alleged discrimination of the railway against commuters of Clarendon and Ballston.

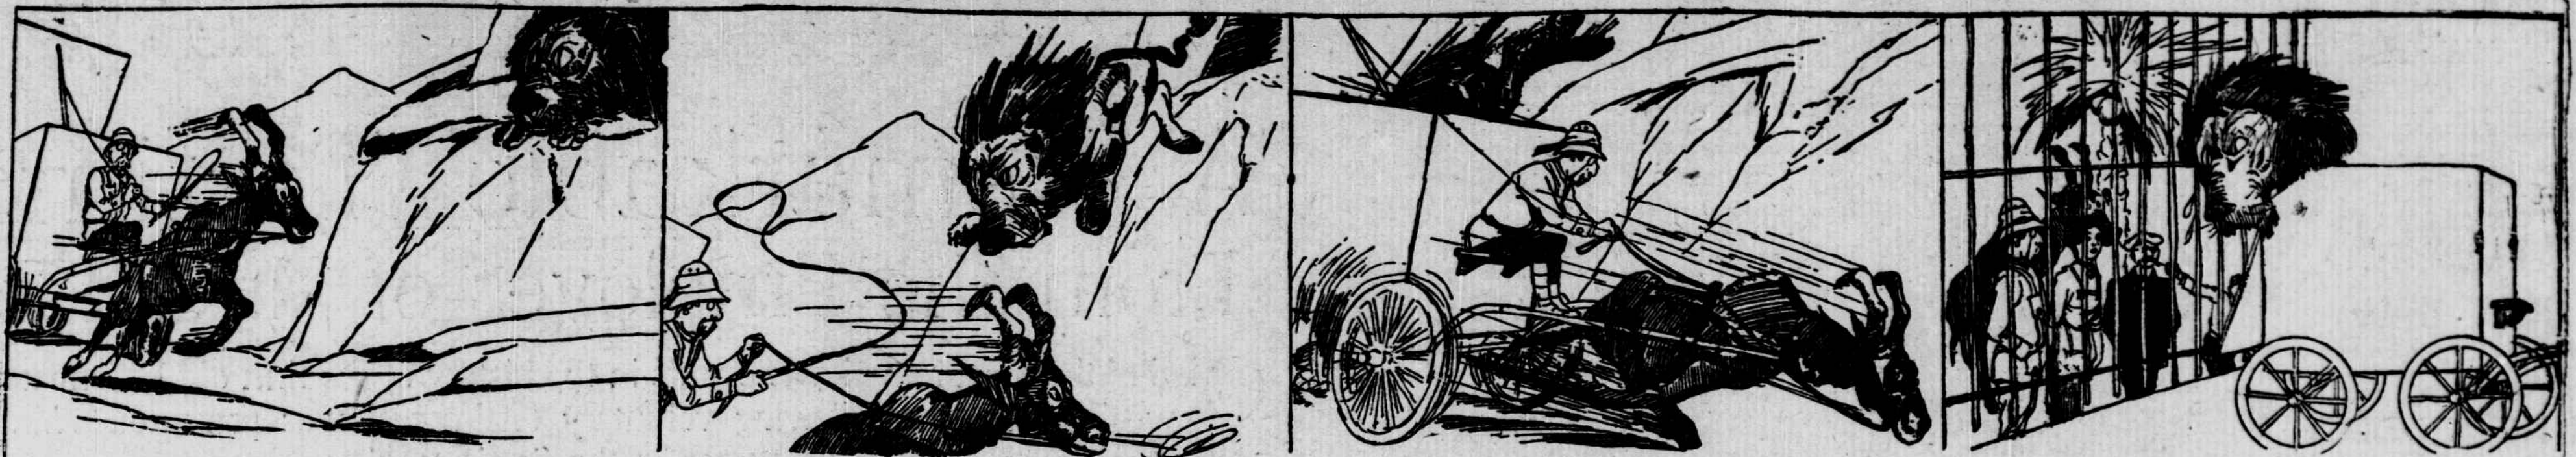

Following the addresses the members of the association voted to present the matter to the interstate commerce commission as soon as a hearing can be arranged.

Would Extend Business Courses.

The extension of business instruction to other high schools in the city not having such courses was advocated by the executive committee of the Business High School Alumni Association, which met last evening at 635 F street northwest. An effort will be made to secure necessary appropriations for putting a roof over the business high school.

Walter Burdett was appointed chairman of the membership committee, with authority to select other members.

LORD LONGBOW---HE CAPTURES A FEROCIOUS LION.

"Hearing of a man-killing lion in the neighborhood of me station, I prepared a trap on wheels, and hitching an ibu in front drove rapidly past the lion's lair."

"As I expected, Leo was on watch, and as we arrived opposite he launched himself swiftly at me trained ibu. But I was ready, and striking the ibu smartly with me whip, he shot past with great velocity, old chap."

"As a result, the king of beasts landed inside me box instead of on the back of me ibu, much to his astonishment, judging from the roars that made the earth tremble."

"I at once drove to the local zoo and had the pleasure of exhibiting the brute to me fellow club members and visiting foreigners, old chap."

Too Fond of Cocktails.
During the past year, the husband says, his wife has become too fond of the American cocktail, and declares that a few months ago when under the influence of drink, she fell down the steps and broke several teeth. He says he owes a large dentist's bill as the result of the mishap.

Mrs. Beauvais, in her original suit for divorce, anticipated this counter charge of the husband and denied that she drinks to excess. She appended to her bill several affidavits of friends to show that she was always able to take care of herself. She admits that she imbibes occasionally, but explains that being French, she has been accustomed to wine drinking and does not become intoxicated.

Sworn to and subscribed before this eighth day of October, 1913.

Cold Winds

By WALT MASON

When the winds blow wild from the arctic strand, where the snow is piled on the frozen land, then we soon forget how we used to wheeze, in the days of sweat, for an ice-cold breeze! Oh, we don't look back to that misfit time, when we cried, "Alack, for some snow and rain!" When the winds come through from the arctic shore, let us smile a few, and then smile some more! If some ancient grouch by the chimneyplace should release an "ouch!" with a gloomy face, and express a wish for a climate hot, let us break a dish on his dome of thought. Let us swat him thrice with the old armchair, let us pile some ice on his silvered hair. When the north winds hiss, let us say: "Oh, crapes! Such a day as this, though it bust the pipes, though it bring some grief with its pesky sleet, is a big relief after August heat!" Let us all be gay while we're here on earth; let us laugh and play with abounding mirth, though the winds be warm or the winds be still, though the day brings storm, though the day be still.

Emile Beauvais Denies Charges
Made in Plea for Divorce—Explains Taking His Child.

Emile Beauvais, hairdresser, of this city and Bar Harbor, Me., has filed answer to the suit for absolute divorce brought against him by his wife, Adele Beauvais, a French modiste. The husband denies the charges made by his wife, including his alleged infatuation for his sister-in-law. Beauvais also filed a counter-suit against his wife, in which he seeks a limited divorce on a charge of addition to excessive use of intoxicants.
